

Saving the World

Editorial	1
A Challenge to the Church by John B. Cobb, Jr.	2
Who Are We? Ecological Anthropology by Sallie McFague	8
Think Like a Mountain and Preserve the Lifeboat by Jerry H. Gill	12
The Need for Spiritually Rooted Compassion in My Life and in Sustainable Communities by Susan Marks	18
The Peaceable Kingdom Reflections on Isaiah 11:1-9 by Ronald L. Farmer	24
Dwelling Musically in the World for the Sake of Sustainable Community by Jay McDaniel	28
Patricia's Ponderings: The Hummingbird Who Made a Mistake by Patricia Adams Farmer	33
Breathing the World, Saving the World by Bruce G. Epperly	34
Pickers Wanted by Robert and Adrienne Brizee	36

Creative Transformation

takes its name from the belief of process theologians that God's work is always creative and always transformative; and that wherever creative transformation is occurring, God is there.

~John B. Cobb, Jr.

Creative Transformation

exploring the growing edge of religious life

Volume 18.4 Fall 2009

Publisher and Editor

Jeanyne B. Slettom
Director, Process & Faith

Contributing Editors

Robert and Adrienne Brizee
Bruce G. Epperly
Patricia Adams Farmer
Ronald L. Farmer
Mary Elizabeth Mullino Moore
Freddy Moreau
Paul S. Nancarrow

Editor 1991-2000

William A. Beardslee

Editor 2001-2009

Marjorie Hewitt Suchocki

Cover Photo

Earth from Space

Image created by Reto Stöckli, Nazmi El Saleous, and Marit Jen-toft-Nilsen, NASA GSFC

Creative Transformation is published quarterly by Process & Faith. Process & Faith seeks ways for people interested in process thought to share ideas and resources, especially in local congregations.

To subscribe, join Process & Faith!

Basic membership: $50

Students & Seniors: $35

PROCESS & FAITH

Editor: Creative Transformation
1325 North College Avenue
Claremont, CA, 91711-3199
909-447-2559
Fax: 909-621-2760

E-mail: office@processandfaith.org

Web site: www.processandfaith.org

Back issues and group rates available.